Scanned by a library

Threads

A thread is one sequence of execution inside a process.

Threads share the address space of their process.